

I just wanted to share a little something with you guys at YES FM. First off I want to thank you for being there for me and my family for the past year or so. I have written in a lot for prayer and just for strength. This radio station has been there, in the roller coaster of what I call my life! Secondly, I was driving somewhere yesterday and of course I had YES FM playing and a song came on and I made some kind of comment about the song and my teenage son said to me "That's what YES FM does mom, whatever mood you are in or however you are feeling, I think they know because that is the kind of music they play, like God is talking to you or me through the radio, mom". I was a little blown away with that, but it's nice that a 16 year old gets it. I just thought you guys would like this little warm fuzzy.

I just wanted to take a minute to thank you guys. I've been listening to you for over a year, and really, my life has changed because of all the positive things you do. I don't know how many times you guys have prayed for me, and my prayers are always answered after you pray for me. It's crazy really! And you play such positive music. Lately, I've been in a slump...and you played "Learning to Fall" by This Beautiful Republic and really, that song speaks so much to me. I was having a horrible day, and I went for a drive to get out...and I heard this song. My day changed. I felt much better. So, I just wanted to say a long winded thank you, you guys really are making a difference in so many peoples lives.

Last Sharathon I pledged $20 per month. Then a few weeks later I found out that I was going to get $20 more per week for my summer job than I had the year before...Thank you YES FM for being awesome and changing people's lives!

Last Thursday I called in and gave $$$. The very next day, I was put up for a raise at work! And in addition to that, Saturday at work we had an order for 680 sheet pizzas. When I signed the slip they gave me a $$$ tip! I calmly got in my car and as soon as I started to drive away I praised God for how amazing he is!

I cannot begin to thank you enough for all that you guys have done throughout my life. When I was younger, during my teenage years, I listened with deafened ears only hearing the music and not the message. But growing older and starting my family, I hear every word. YES FM has saved me from myself in a way I never thought possible. It helped me make the changes necessary to improve my life and those around me. Some have separated themselves from me because of this, and I realize they are just unwilling to accept His hand. But I stand strong with the Lord and pray that my child will stand strong beside me and accept Him into their life, as I did. I hope others can really listen to the music and really hear the messages that so many great bands promote. I encourage all my friends and family to tune in and listen, not only for the music, but for the DJs too. Your support and uplifting words in between songs have shown me a way, on more than one occasion, through my troubles and hard times.
